Department of Mechanical Engineering

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor

The University of New Brunswick, Department of Mechanical Engineering, invites applicants for a tenure-track appointment at the Assistant Professor level. This position will complement existing Departmental research and teaching activities. Areas of interest include: Advanced Manufacturing, Automation and Smart Systems, Mechatronics, Biomedical Engineering, Fluid Mechanics, and Nuclear Engineering. Duties in the Department include teaching undergraduate courses in the core Mechanical Engineering curriculum, offering courses in the area of the appointee's research specialty at the senior undergraduate and/or graduate level, and conducting research. The Department currently has approximately 400 undergraduate students and 70 full-time graduate students. The Department has been experiencing exciting growth beyond a standard Mechanical Engineering program with several different options and research focal points. Further information about the Department can be found at www.me.unb.ca.

The appointee must have completed an earned doctorate in Mechanical Engineering or similar area. The appointee shall be eligible and willing to become a registered Professional Engineer in the Province of New Brunswick.

Applications, including a curriculum vitae, a teaching dossier (if available), a research plan, and the names of three academic references, should be sent to:
